

Widline Cadet, Nan Letènite (In Eternity), 2021. Archival Inkjet Print, 40 x 32 in (101.6 x 81.28 cm).

Friends and Lovers

July 15 – August 19

Opening Reception, Saturday, July 15, 6–8pm

Artists: Alina Perez, Alex Bradley Cohen, Anthony Iacono, Charles Snowden, Clifford Prince King, Daniel Gordon, Gabe Cortese, Elijah Burgher, J. Carino, Jared French, Katja Farin, Kyle Coniglio, Minami Kobayashi, Mj Torrecampo, PaJaMa, Paul Cadmus, Peter Hujar, Roksana Pirouzmand, Ruby Sky Stiler, Shagha Ariannia, Star Montana, Summer Wheat, Tamara Santibañez, Vincent Pocsik, Widline Cadet.

Shulamit Nazarian is pleased to present Friends and Lovers, an exhibition that brings together over twenty artists exploring ideas of kinship. Featuring painting, drawing, photography, and sculpture, the exhibition spans eight decades, uniting a cross-disciplinary and intergenerational group of artists.

Friends and Lovers explores the subtleties of intimacy, foregrounding quiet moments typically shared privately among couples and small groups. Lingering on these moments, the exhibition uncovers the power, promise, and fantasy inherent to such deep partnerships.

Presented in a salon-style with artworks dramatically ranging in scale, Friends and Lovers invokes the manner that family photographs and ephemera are often encountered in a domestic setting. Together, the works uncover the senses of longing and delicate connections in romantic, familial, and platonic relationships, allowing the affirmations of friends and lovers to place otherworldly dreams within the realm of possibility.